Support Your Local Farmers

Sign up for a weekly box of fresh sustainably grown local produce. Our Consumer Supported Agriculture (CSA) subscription is the most effective way to support Alaska Seeds of Change, and not only economically. CSA pickups provide an opportunity for our young adult staff to practice their customer relationship skills and share the agriculture knowledge they've gained on the farm.

Alaska Seeds of Change is a new social enterprise program combining urban farming and positive youth development. Young adults between the ages of 16 and 24 work on our indoor hydroponic farm where they develop employment skills and learn to grow leafy greens and herbs. Our youth employees are paid for part-time work, and also receive paid training to develop independent living skills including how to manage money and plan for college or a future career.

Words From Our Youth Farmers

"I'd never worked with customers before and now I get to help people, which is cool. I can name all the plants we grow too." (J)

"Seeds is a positive space in the Spenard Community. It gives us a place to go and work instead of tearing it up on the streets." (Q)

By purchasing a CSA subscription, you are strengthening local agriculture, the Alaskan economy, and the future of your community.
